Junmo's Reflection:

At the time of tax...

As we come to the end of the financial year, people begin thinking about tax. Before we meet with our tax agent, we need to put our financial affairs in some sort of order. As we do this we get a sense of how much we've earned and spent over the year. Sometimes we may regret how much money we've spent or even wasted.

What about church finance? The same arrangements are in place for managing the church's finances. When we think about the rather tedious and annoying preparations for our own tax assessment, we realize how much the church's treasurers have to do and we are very grateful for their services. As you know, this year we helped people in need as much as we could and where possible allowed the church building to be used for community events. I just hope we don't go into the red.

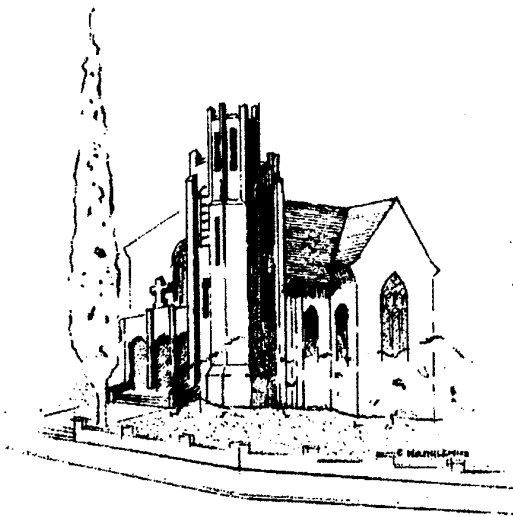

Around the time when we need to recall what our financial life was like during the year, perhaps we could spend some time reflecting on our spiritual economy as well. Where did we get our spiritual energy? How much time did we give to bible reading and prayer in order to grow our spirituality? For what did we use our spiritual power? Did we wander in the wildness of spirituality for nothing?

Spirituality doesn't grow by itself. We need to manage it. We need to get our body and mind filled with the Spirit of God. We need to make every endeavour to get the Spirit to do something good, for our neighbours, through us. I hope you stop your busy work for a while today, and take some time to ponder your spiritual economy.
