Junmo's reflection

"What shall we eat for dinner tonight?" I often hear this question from my wife. In fact, it doesn't matter what we eat for dinner. Kyounghee can choose any food. Kyounghee's worry is not about food but family and love. Her point is how she can make my family feel happy through a delicious meal. Her worry is related to my family's happiness.

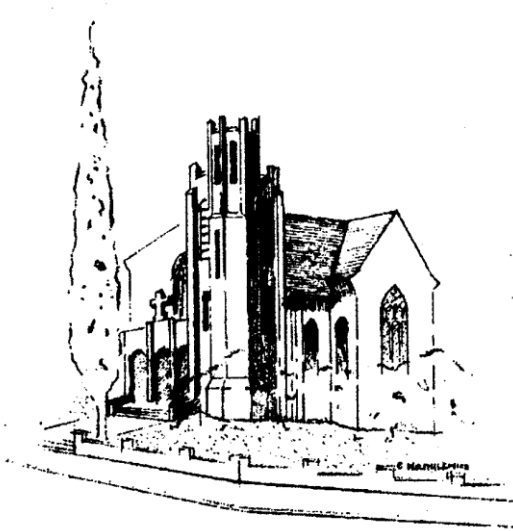

I felt a similar thing at the congregational meeting at the church some time ago. While reading the Annual Report, I realized again that most of our church members take care of one another and love each other. Like mums, who are not rewarded for their sacrifice but prepare every meal for their children thanks to their love for the children, our church members serve the church in every corner and put their love into practice.

Even though attendance numbers aren't high and financial status is not abundant, our church members show a deep concern for others beyond our congregation. They have been praying for and doing their part in seeking for church unity and helping asylum seekers, city mission, detention centres, Life Line, and so on. Concern for others must be the mind Jesus has for others.

I appreciate our church members' every effort. God must be proud of you. Life is valuable and hope is sustained because of the people who share their love with others. I would like to say a big thank you to every church member at Mosman Uniting Church. May God bless you all!
